

Max-Planck-Institute for Demographic Research
Rostock Center for Research on Demographic Change
Department of Economics, University of Rostock

3rd European Workshop on

'Labour Markets and Demographic Change'

April 24-25, 2008

Call for Papers

We are pleased to invite papers for submission for the 3rd European Workshop on 'Labour markets and demographic change' April 24-25, 2008 in Rostock, Germany. The workshop focuses on economic analysis broadly dealing with the impact of demographic change on labour markets or, indeed, vice versa. We welcome empirical and theoretical contributions from both a micro- and macro-economic perspective. A conference volume is projected. Topics of interest include

- Supply- and demand-side impact of demographic change
- Matching of ageing workers
- Contracts with an ageing workforce
- Age discrimination
- Productivity, innovation and age
- Policy-making in ageing labour markets
- Labour migration
- Labour market institutions and fertility

The deadline for submission is January 28. We prefer the submission of full draft papers, but are willing to consider extended abstracts (3 pages). Those wishing to participate are invited to submit papers/abstracts in PDF format to Carsten Ochsén (carsten.ochsen@uni-rostock.de). We explicitly welcome junior researchers to submit and present their work.

Authors will be notified about acceptance by February 23.

Final papers should be submitted by April 7 at the latest.